WELCOME TO EGYPT

● ● ● Here are some guidelines to keep in mind ● ● ●

DO's

- Hang around in groups
- Look both ways before crossing the street
- Carry a water bottle with you at all times on any trip. Mineral water is available everywhere
- Exchange your money in banks or exchange offices.
- Shout out the name of the location you are going to when calling a Taxi
- Wear sun-screen lotion
- Enjoy the country as much as you can. Egypt is not just any country - Egypt is "Om el Donia" (the Mother of the World!)
- Avoid drinking hard liquor that has no brand name
- Learn some Arabic words
- Tip if you enjoyed the service at a restaurant
- Remove your shoes upon entering an Egyptian person's home
- Ask an Egyptian if you can take their picture they usually won't mind
- Dress appropriately if visiting a mosque. Women need to cover their hair. and no skin should be exposed besides the hands. face. and feet .And remember to take your shoes off
- Spend time talking to the people. Egyptians are interesting. kind and have a great sense of humor. You will learn from them as they will learn from you- it is always a rich exchange.
- Don't miss out on that! Try and be around for Eid at the end of the fasting month. Spending Eid in an Islamic country can be fascinating.
- Ask directions from at least three different people (to be sure you have the right information) Sometimes people try to help even if they don't know the place.

DONT's

- Wear sleeveless tops. shorts. or short skirts in the street.
- Drink tap water. even though it is clean and all Egyptians are used to it you will take a few days of stomach aches to get aqua tinted.
- Talk back to any "Passes" or attempts by strangers to talk to you. simply ignore them.
- Swim where there's a black flag up. it means the water is too rough.
- Drink alcohol in the street (ifs not socially acceptable. and in some areas it's forbidden by law).
- Kiss your partner in the street.
- Pet street dogs and cats.
- Take pictures of military building.
- Take photographs where you're not supposed camera may damage paintings on the walls.
- Forget your ID.

Bring with you

- Map: the first thing that you should carry with you whenever you go should be a map of Egypt and to be specific a map for the city that you are staying in not to get lost and always to feel safe.
- GPS: if you are a phone addict then the GPS will be a perfect substitute for the map thing as it will help you to know your destination and where are you right now and how long it will take you to reach your destination.
- Google translate application: if you don't know, the first language spoken all over Egypt is the Arabic language and yes we know that it is the most difficult language in the world so we will really appreciate your trials to pronounce our difficult letters and sounds To reserve all that effort all what you need is Google translate app in your smart phone and then you are ready to go into the streets of Egypt.
- Charging cables: this is a very important tip to know in Egypt the charging cables are somehow different in most of the foreign countries so before coming to Egypt just try to research about the place and the city that you are going to stay in and know what is the suitable kind of chargers you should have for all your electronic devices.
- All your sun protecting products: this is very important tip too in order to stay alive in the burning sun in Egypt specially in the hot summer days you really should bring all your sun protecting products in order not to get sun burns from the hot sun in summer and also in some places in the south in the winter too.
- A fly and mosquito spray: sometimes it gets really annoying when they start biting and making their annoying sounds but here is the solution for protecting you from all of that. The Anti-mosquito spray for your body will be your ultimate solution to protect you from their bites.
